

Position on Coronavirus (COVID-19)

March 12, 2020

Sodalis Senior Living is a leader in assisted living and memory care, with a proactive approach to the health and wellness of our residents.

Given the increasing impact of the Coronavirus (also known as COVID-19) and the particular risk it poses to elderly populations, our leadership team has announced proactive, data-driven, informed plans to take every precautionary measure to ensure the safety of our residents and staff in all Sodalis communities in Texas. We also will strive to be a model for reliable and informed communication for our patients, residents, families, employees, and the broader communities in which we serve.

To protect our residents, no visitors will be allowed access to Sodalis communities for the next 30 days without emergency clearance from the president of the company. New/returning residents will be admitted once cleared through our screening process, in accordance with guidelines issued by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the World Health Organization (WHO), and Texas Health and Human Services.

In lieu of in-person visits, we are encouraging families and friends to seek other ways to maintain communications with our residents, such as Skype and FaceTime. Sodalis will help facilitate those communications with the deployment of smart devices in our communities and guides to facilitate virtual communications and social connectedness.

We will continue to actively communicate the steps Sodalis is taking to protect all of our communities, as well as disseminate ongoing news and updates regarding COVID-19 and guidelines people can use to better protect themselves as a matter of course.
